The presence of a Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcase in the home indicates culture, refinement, education. It fosters the reading habit, encourages the love of good literature, broadens the mind, and helps form the character.

The artistic beauty of the Globe-Wernicke designs—the variety of patterns, woods and finishes make this piece of furniture as important and essential as any other item of home furnishing.

It gives the touch of color and the promise of romance which convert a house into a home.

RANDOLPH

John Connolly, Formerly of This Place, Died in California.

News was received here on Saturday of the death of John Connolly, the message coming to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connolly, with no particulars, only that the body would be shipped home. Mr. Connolly had been in California this winter. While he had been in frail health for years, it was not known that he was any worse, but went for the change. About ten years ago Mr. Connolly went to New England, N. D., and there edited and published a paper, which had been a success beyond expectations. He with his brother, Martin Connolly, has been engaged in this business for several years, and it is now well established. It is expected that the body may arrive in a few days.

The public safety committee called a meeting on Saturday night in the hall of the K. K. club, which was well attended by many of the business men of the place. Rev. Fraser Metzger, Rev. S. G. Sutor and M. M. Wilson were present and spoke to the company, explaining the requirements and remuneration of those who entered the shipbuilding company. At the close of the meeting 35 men signed up, and as soon as the proper agent arrives they will investigate this more thoroughly, when it is expected they will for the most part go as they are called. While this is not obligatory, it is expected that upon investigation many will desire to avail themselves of this opportunity, inasmuch as there is a prospect of the mills here being shut down on account of the lack of fuel. It is understood that there is no age limit and only skilled mechanics may enter this work.

H. H. Hatch received a card from his son, Henry Hatch, who, with Albert Salisbury, Robert Chambers and Herman Kilburn, went across several weeks ago. The card announced safe arrival after a rough voyage, and that they were retained on the boat about a week before being allowed to land.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Special clean-up sale of silk dresses at Abbott's.

Ladies of Clan Gordon will hold a regular meeting Feb. 5 at 7:15.

Miss Marie Mayo of Washington street visited friends in Burlington yesterday and to-day.

E. H. Brown of the Barre & Chelsea railroad crew visited friends in Williston yesterday.

Mrs. Alex. Lawson of Reid street is employed as a clerk at the City bakery for a few days.

Rev. W. J. M. Beattie of Tremont street is attending the annual convention of the Vermont Episcopal diocese in Rutland.

Mr. and Mrs. William George of North Main street returned last night, after a week-end visit with relatives in Waterbury.

Oscar Martinson returned yesterday to Boston, after spending a few days at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ida Martinson, of Perrin street.

Corp. W. J. Duquette, who has been passing a brief leave at his home on Washington street, returned yesterday to Ayer, Mass., where he is stationed at Camp Devens.

Rev. Lewis C. Carson, Ph. D., pastor of the Church of the Messiah in Montpelier, will be the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's club in the First Presbyterian church this evening. His lecture, on "The Holy Land," will be illustrated by stereopticon slides.

The Knights of Columbus committee consisting of Charles H. Wilkie, C. E. Barrows and John Papin, has completed plans for a dinner to be given in honor of the Montpelier council in the rooms of the Barre council next Monday evening. The dinner will be in the nature of a forfeit, as the local knights were defeated in the winter tournament in cribbage and pool, recently completed. A Hooverized menu is being prepared, and after the dinner there will be games.

Among the guests arriving at Hotel Barre last night and this morning were the following people: F. C. Archibald of Manchester, P. M. Padden and W. G. McGarrity of Springfield, Guy W. Hill of St. Johnsbury, and Mrs. F. W. Beale of Boston, C. W. Bushey of Woodsville, N. H., Warner Richardson and P. M. Jordan of Portland, Me., T. B. Garfield of Burlington, Charles P. Day of Hartford, R. M. Rann of St. Johnsbury, L. L. Corey and party of Manchester, L. B. King of Portland, J. J. Longman and P. C. Huntington of Burlington.

Clergy of the city are organizing their forces for the annual drive on the open season, and while plans for the campaign have not been completed, the committee has gone so far as to engage the opera house for the customary pre-election rally on the first Sunday in March. Last year the mass meeting was discarded, many claimed for the reason that it attracted only those persons who would naturally vote no-license, and in its stead, the temperance committee made a personal appeal to the voters. It is possible that a number of temperance meetings may be held before the voters assemble on the first Tuesday in March to ballot on the local option question.

Again to-day trains running to Barre and Millstone hill succumbed temporarily to the weather and during the first half of the forenoon all schedules were badly disrupted. The high winds, together with the intense cold, made conditions almost unbearable for the train. The Barre branch train, on its way back to the city after meeting the early morning northbound at Montpelier Junction, became stalled in the snow near the underpass at Barre Junction. One of two locomotives available in the freight yard was frozen, and the other was sent to the relief of the passenger train. Bound out for the hill, the first big freight outfit to leave the city got as far as the city limits and retired in confusion before the drifts. Section men suffered intensely to-day, and as long as the wind continued they worked under great difficulty.

Pullet thieves are plying their nefarious trade in several parts of the city and in certain instances with extraordinary daring, according to reports and complaints received at police headquarters. At the north end, poultry breeder who go in for quantity and leave the matter of quality to the fanciers have suffered through wholesale thefts during the past week. Openly expressed threats to do the thieves violence should they be caught in their operations apparently have not been heard by the right set of ears, for the heaving goods on almost systematically. One man barred the door with an extra lock and was surprised to learn the next morning that the dexterity and determination of a thief who bagged 14 fowls had not been balked by locks. Some of the losers feel the thefts more keenly for the reason that their pullets had just begun to produce.

Another former student of Goddard seminary has passed away while in the service of his country, according to tidings received here yesterday. The late Private Philip E. Goodere, a member of the 29th company, 154th depot brigade at Camp Meade, Md. Private Goodere had been ill but a short time when death came last Wednesday. He was 25 years old and a native of Fitchburg, Mass., although his home was in Vergennes, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Goodere, reside. The young man was a graduate of Fitchburg high school and afterward attended the seminary here, where he was held in high esteem by the student body as well as the faculty. For three years previous to his enlistment he was employed as a sales manager in Vergennes. He left Vermont early in December to enlist in the aviation corps, but as he was unable to pass the examination, he enlisted in the ordnance department. Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Harold Goodere of Oak Park, Ill., and two sisters, Mrs. H. A. Eble of East Orange, N. J., and Miss Clara Goodere of Vergennes.

A large-sized audience attended the humorous lecture given by Rev. G. W. Keeling of Williamstown last evening at the Hedding Methodist church league rooms, which was given under the auspices of the ladies' home missionary society. The title of Rev. Keeling's lecture was "The Adventures of an Englishman Away from Home," and the humorous details of a young preacher's experiences on leaving home in England and crossing the Atlantic and finally settling down as minister to the spiritual needs of a small Green mountain state community, were told in an entertaining manner. The remaining numbers on the evening's program were vocal solos by Miss Wallace, the supervisor of music in the city schools, and by Miss Mary Patterson, both of whom were warmly received, while selections by a quartet composed of Prof. Morse of the high school faculty, Theron Morse, Deane Davis and Hildred Martin were also heartily applauded. The program was in charge of Mrs. L. D. Martin, who acted as mistress of the ceremonies.

Keynote of Spring Styles--Individuality

There is dissension in the ranks of style this spring and both sides seem to be winning, and in the turmoil of the fray, one may dress to suit one's individual type, provided the silhouette remains straight or a trifle fitted in.

The trig, mannish, military models shown by the leading houses, seem to stand at attention all the time. With patch pockets, all around belts, military straightness and rookie colors, there's many a soldier would strive to capture such models.

But then there are others who perceptibly scorn all military advice. They seek the slim, slender silhouette from the tight, narrow shoulder line, fitted waist and ruffle peplum to yard or yard and a half wide about the hem and on the way down. There may be an overskirt, draped effect or tunic but which does not not interfere with the straight line appearance.

We Are Now Showing a Few of the New Spring Suit Models

Ladies' Tailored Suits

What we have left in Tailored Suits we are closing in the next few days at prices that mean a good saving to any who want a Suit to finish out the season or even for the next season, as we cannot hope to get such values as these next season or for a number of seasons to come.

If we have your size in these Suit values, we can surely save you some good money and you will get a real value.

Ladies' Silk Waists

We have gone through our Waist stock and picked all odd Waists and put on one rack to close at one-fourth off from the original price. These are in Crepe de Chines, Georgette, Crepes, and Jap Silks, that sold at from $2.00 to $5.50, to close at one-fourth off from the original price.

Ladies' Silk Dresses

We have some Silk Dress values that will interest any who want a Dress for the early spring wear. These are odd Dresses which we cannot duplicate. Are a very good style and an extra value.

We have gone through our stock and taken out all Dresses which we cannot duplicate and put them on one rack to close at one-half the original price. Here are good Dresses at less than you will pay for the silk that is in them, to say nothing of the cost of making.

Ladies' Wool Dresses

In Ladies' Wool Dresses we have some good All Wool Serges that are selling at the old prices. These are a good Wool Dress value. Among these values are Dresses that are marked at a liberal discount to close in the next few days.

Good Warm Coat Values

This is the weather that makes us think and want a good warm Coat, and when you realize the scarcity of wool and woolen cloths all over the country, you must realize it is a pretty good time to buy Coats, as now you can get an All-Wool garment in a good weight cloth that has service. Then the straight, full lines of the Coats this season are of a style that is bound to be good the coming season.

Here is a lot of Coats in the season's best materials, and in styles that are sure to be good another season. These we have put on one rack to close at one-fourth off from the regular price. If you need a Coat, you should see these values.

We have a few Junior Coats at one-fourth off from the regular price.

At one-half price are what we have left in Children's Colored Coats in sizes from 3 to 6 years. These are a good warm Coat, and are in the best of materials.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Special values in waists at Abbott's.

The West Hill Sunshine club will meet with Mrs. Charles Chapman Thursday afternoon, Feb. 7, at 2 o'clock. As each one is Hooverizing, refreshments will not be served.

The Woman's association of the Congregational church will meet in the church parlor Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Program in charge of the missionary department.

The regular monthly business meeting and social of the Philathea class of the Congregational church will be held at the home of Mrs. C. H. White, 25 Richardson street, Tuesday evening.

Bargains, bargains! All millinery goods must be sold by Feb. 15. Call and save money. Also a few straw hats that will do for summer wear. 53 Washington street, Miss L. E. Townsend.

Frederick Johnson, aged 13, of East Barre was brought to the city yesterday by Deputy Sheriff W. E. Bixby and assigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott in juvenile court. It was alleged that the boy had been irregular in his school attendance, and after hearing the evidence, the judge adjudged him a delinquent. Later an arrangement was made with Walter Smith, a Barre Town farmer, whereby the boy will work for his board and attend school.

City Atty. William Wishart is investigating the case of Louis Fortin, a resident of Winooski, who was committed to the county jail from Barre city court for an intoxication offense Jan. 5. Shortly after arriving at the jail, Fortin developed positive symptoms of tuberculosis, and after a consultation with the medical authorities it was decided to remove him to the Pittsford sanatorium for treatment. The state has asked the city council to furnish a bond indemnifying the state from the usual expenses in the case. Upon inquiry at city court, it develops that Fortin, a native as well as a resident of Winooski, never claimed a legal residence in Barre, and that he was a transient here when arrested early in January.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Sergt. W. E. Hudson, who is connected with the army recruiting service, returned to White River Junction yesterday, after a week-end visit in the city.

Miss Eda Buzzi returned this forenoon to East Corinth, where she is engaged in the schools, after visiting for the past few days at her home on Blackwell street.

Robert Brown, who was called to Barre last week by the illness and death of his father, John Brown, of Bassett street, returned yesterday to Windsor, where he is connected with a clothing company.

Two young men left this forenoon for Manchester, N. H., where they are to be examined for entrance into the Canadian army. They are Paul Beckley of South Main street and George Grant of Branch street, both of whom are employed as granite cutters.

At the D. A. Perry Real Estate agency to-day members and employees of the company were relieved to learn that Dan A. Perry did not fare badly in the fire which threatened the Brooks house in Brattleboro last night. Mr. Perry left for Brattleboro yesterday to attend the Holstein cattle sale, and at the agency it was thought that he would register with other cattle buyers at the Brooks house. This forenoon word came that occupants of the hotel made their escape handily.

Rural carriers, with one exception, left the postoffice on schedule time to-day, but it was to face the worst conditions of the winter, and not all of the route men were willing to predict that they would complete their rounds to-day. Reports from outside led them to believe that many roads have been rendered impassable by the drifting snow. Charles Ayers, driver on route No. 1, was delayed for a time because the snow and wind erected a barrier across his path on Richardson road, where he resides. Mr. Ayers arrived at the postoffice as soon as he could break a road, and left on his trip before mid-forenoon.

TALK OF THE TOWN

New line of wash goods at Abbott's. Beginning Feb. 4, all trucking will be strictly cash. W. C. Eastman, Graniteville.

Regular meeting of Bright Star Rebekah lodge, No. 18, Wednesday evening, Feb. 6, at 7:30 o'clock.

The ladies' union of the Universalist church will hold a business meeting at the parsonage Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The meeting of the contest captains and committees of the Netop class of the Methodist Sunday school, which was to have been held this evening, has been postponed on account of the severe weather.

Firemen from the central station had their first contact with the cold wind at 8:30 o'clock this morning, when a telephone call came from Laurel street. The regulars responded in the auto truck and found that the scare was due to an overheated smoke pipe in a tenement house owned by E. L. Smith and occupied by Adam Wood. No damage was done, and the truck returned to the station at once. With the return of extreme cold weather Chief Gladding is re-energizing his warning against the use of torches and burning paper in thawing out water pipes. Be sure to have the woodwork amply protected from fire when using a torch, and do not light the torch near inflammable material.

Two German aliens registered at police headquarters yesterday in compliance with an order from the U. S. attorney general in which all persons of that classification are required to register at municipal police stations or federal buildings between Feb. 4 and Feb. 9. Chief Sinclair collected the required data from each alien and obtained his finger prints. Neither was able to furnish a photograph, and after they had been advised of the requirements in this respect both aliens repaired to a studio to have the picture made. They will report at headquarters before the week expires. During the day 15 Austrian aliens called on the chief and asked to be registered, but as the registration proceedings were instituted for German aliens alone, the subjects of Austria did not tarry long.

Bureau of Fisheries Says "Eat the Eulachon."

The use of the eulachon, a valuable but neglected fish of the Pacific coast, is being advocated by the bureau of fisheries, department of commerce, not only on account of its intrinsic value and excellence, but as a solution of the problem of finding a supply of sea foods during the winter season when the catch is reduced. The "Eat More Fish" campaign and the necessity of conserving other animal foods, coupled with the unusual severity of the weather on some of the most important fishing grounds, make the difficulty more than normally acute.

Fortunately the eulachon is one of the fishes which appears in large quantities at a season when the scarcity of fresh and frozen fish is becoming most marked and those who are complaining of the dearth and high price of sea foods can help to solve the difficulty by buying it. In January and February vast schools of these little fish run from the sea to spawn in the mouths of streams from Oregon northward, and they can then be caught under conditions which make it possible for them to be economically distributed.

There are other reasons than patriotism for eating eulachon. It somewhat resembles the smelt in size, appearance and quality, though there are many who think it far superior in flavor. It is also much richer and fatter, and its use will therefore permit a corresponding reduction in the consumption of other animal fats as recommended by the food administrator.

Eulachon are now on sale on the Pacific coast and in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, St. Louis, and other large cities and many small communities east of the Rocky mountains. It is incorrectly known in some places as "Columbia river smelt," "Pacific smelt," or western smelt.

The bureau invites the co-operation of fish dealers and the public in the promotion of the use of this fish and has issued display cards recommending it and circulars containing recipes will be supplied gratis on application to division of bureau of fisheries, Washington, D. C.
